From Kathy's Desk

It is difficult to think of our Holiday Concerts when the outside temperature is in the mid-90s, but Thanksgiving and Christmas are just a few months away.

The summer Patriotic concert was fabulous! The Ham and Chicken Party was fun and the field trips educational and entertaining. Chris Lackey successfully inaugurated our first student concert for friends and family.

I remind everyone: if you feel sick, don't come to class. We sanitize everything every day, but don't take a chance. If you feel bad, your brain is not in a learning mode.

We thank Chris Johnston and his parents for graciously showing us their pipe organ. Everyone got a chance to see the pipes, the blower and play. Students were prepared and made me proud!

Check out our Youtube channel and Facebook page to see some of these performances. Keep checking the Facebook page and website because sometimes event times and dates may change. As I write this, we are scheduled to visit the Voice of America Museum Sunday.

Congratulations to new instrument owners!

Jonathan Dingler	Casio Keyboard
Elise Hochhausler	Lowrey Marquee Organ
Keith Kombrinck	Casio Digital Piano
JoAnna Kast	Casio Keyboard

New workshops are scheduled for September, October and November. Students are already working on their songs for the November Holiday Concerts.

We are also getting volunteers to play in the Mall on the Saturdays between Thanksgiving and Christmas. Everyone loves this and looks forward to the live holiday music.

It is great to see the generations moving along. In all my years in the music business—44 this August—I attended the first student wedding! Adult private organ student Samuel Anang married the lovely Gladys—such a beautiful and inspiring wedding! Also, our teacher John Zulli's son Philip married one of Marella's former students, Emily Knollman. Sergio and his lady will welcome a little Mateo Zapata in November. My daughter Cassie started teaching piano to my grandson Tobias. I told her to keep the lesson at 30 minutes. She said, he begged her to continue after that time, so Mama Cassie weakened and let him have a longer lesson.

Prayers for ill customers Bill Peltier and Carol Morris.

Music unites us all with joy! Keep playing!
